
The Terminator (also known as "Heroes") is a 1984 American science-fiction action thriller film about a humanoid assassin sent from 2029 to 1984 by the anti-technological human resistance movement to assassinate Miles Dyson, father of Skynet, which will trigger a nuclear holocaust. The Terminator 2: Judgment Day (also referred as "Terminator 2: The Ultimate Battle" and "Judgment Day") is the sequel to the original The Terminator film. It was released in 1991. It stars Arnold Schwarzenegger once again as the titular cyborg, with Linda Hamilton reprising her role as Sarah Connor from T1. The film also stars Robert Patrick, Edward Furlong, Earl Boen, Michael Biehn, Brad Dourif (in his film debut), Nick Stahl and Lance Henriksen. Unlike the first film, "Terminator 2" was not originally planned to be a trilogy; however, T2 was very successful at the box office and led to the production of "Terminator 3: Rise of the Machines" (2003). As such, The Terminator franchise has become one of Hollywood's most profitable series. Arnold Schwarzenegger reprises his role as the Terminator, an artificial being from the future sent back to 1984 to assassinate Sarah Connor, whose son will lead humanity against Skynet, an oppressive computer system. The majority of the narrative has already been explored in "The Terminator", with little new information provided. When Sarah's efforts to protect her son are unsuccessful, she is captured by the police and taken back to 1984 for involuntary pregnancy testing. The police set out to rescue her. They are instead confronted by a Terminator attempting to kill John Connor, an acquaintance of Arnold Schwarzenegger's character, Kyle Reese. Reese and Sarah escape together, but not before the Terminator informs them of his mission to kill John Connor. Kyle and Sarah are chased down by the Terminator, until they arrive at a factory where John works. There, the Terminator begins to chase them again, but is blown up in front of Sarah after she shoots it in the leg with a shotgun. Kyle then reveals that he is also from the future; he was sent back by an organization of soldiers called "Judgment Day" to fight alongside John. The only thing they knew about him (John Connor) was that he would lead humanity in a war against machines on August 29th, 1997 (the day Judgment Day takes place). Once Reese and Sarah met him at the factory, Kyle realized that he had to do something about keeping John's existence a secret. Kyle and Sarah escape and reach a safe house. There, they learn that their pursuer is after them, but Reese denies having any knowledge of the man. The Terminator arrives at the safe house disguised as a police officer, but shoots himself in front of them when they see through his ruse. Kyle and Sarah then hide in another safe house where John works as a janitor. While there, they receive a call from "Judgment Day" informing them of their success in protecting John Connor.
